In March 1988, the Deaf President Now (DPN) movement transformed Gallaudet University—and the world.

For the first time in history, the global Deaf community rallied together in a powerful demand for representation, equity, and self-determination. The student-led protest at Gallaudet University led to the appointment of the university’s first Deaf president, Dr. I. King Jordan, marking a turning point in the fight for Deaf rights

Gallaudet student leaders (L to R):

Tim Rarus (’88)
Bridgetta Bourne-Firl (’89)
Greg Hilbok (’90)
Jerry Covell (’89)
